NOVEL GEOLOGIC FORMATIONS SEEN.

Special to The Caller.
SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 24.—During the close of the spring term of the University at Texas, E. L. Whitely, associate professor of geology and paleontology, with a class of students and assistants, made a trip to the Texas mountains, north of El Paso, for the purpose of studying the geological formations of that section. Many interesting formations were found and examined, the most notable of these being the series of seven towers, or mesas, which, according to the geologists, are the result of the chemical action of water on the rock formations in the mountains. Besides the towers, the class studied many of the other interesting formations that are to be found in and around the Texas mountains.

H. AND B. BEER LETTER.

Special to The Caller.
NEW ORLEANS, July 24.—According to the first of numerous monthly private crop condition reports to be issued in volume by the most government crop report scheduled for August 1, there has taken place a decided improvement in the growing crop during the last month.
The indicated yield now points to about 13,000,000 bushels of cotton, or about 13,000,000 bales, which is a considerable increase over the yield of the previous year. This is due to the fact that the cotton crop is now in a better condition than it was at the same time last year.
